- It combines music, dance, and theater to tell timeless stories.
- Depending on the role, the performers put on various wooden carved Noh masks, Extremely low movement and maximum effect with minimal movementI will demonstrate.
- It was registered as a UNESCO Intangible Cultural Heritage in 2008.

Features of Noh theater

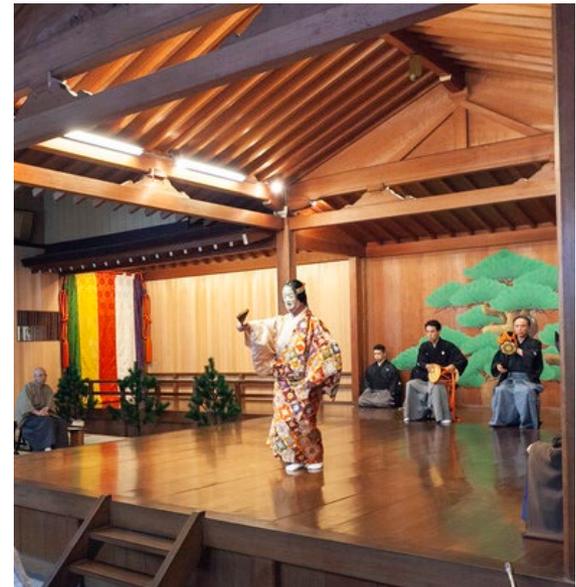

Kashokaku

- It was established in 1961 by the Inoue family, a Kansei-ryu Noh performer, as a project to spread Noh and nurture younger generations.
- On the parapet of the Noh stage, there is a wooden carving of a phoenix, and under the stage, there are nine jars to enhance the sound effect. The sound effects have a good reputation.
